The admiral, the flag officers commanding the squadrons of the flect, and the commanding officers of the battleships, have been invited to a banquet to be given in their honor Sunday evening at the Metropolitan Club in this city.

The impression generally prevails that Admiral Sperry will be detached from his fleet very soon, possibly before the vessels depart from Hampton Hoads for the navy sands for ropairs. Secretary Newberry left Washington to-night for Norfelk, where he espects to observe the operation of the reorganization plan in force at the mayy-ward there. He will return Sunday morning.

He told Admiral Sperry that he did not feel willing to trust himself on the bridge of the vessel during any length of time, and relt that in justice to the department and to the officers and men under his command, he should be relieved of the responsibility of bringing the ship back to the United States.

The functions of a navai medical board are practically identical with those of an array retiring board, and
